The Oklahoma Society of CPAs is a statewide, nonprofit organization dedicated to developing and promoting the highest educational, ethical and professional standard in the accounting industry:

The Certified Public Accountant.

Earning a CPA credential is one of the most difficult achievements for an up-and-coming accountant. As a result, the CPA designation represents an unmatched professional competency for both the individual and his or her employer. An investment in your CPA is an investment in your firm, company or association and a commitment to excellence.

Why the OSCPA?

Membership in the Oklahoma Society of CPAs not only helps your CPA become a stronger professional, but it also provides savings for your business or firm. The OSCPA focuses on developing CPAs into leaders of the financial world. There is no other association like it in the state, and we strive to help our CPAs succeed in all aspects of their lives.

When You Support Your CPA, You are Supporting:

- 1. Professionalism at Every Level – OSCPA membership helps your CPA stay on top of the changes that specifically affect your business or industry. The OSCPA's variety of newsletters as well as our member magazine, the CPAFOCUS, are free to members and include the latest regulatory and technical information your CPA needs to know to stay well-versed in his or her profession.
- 2. Leadership Development – The OSCPA offers leadership opportunities in the way of committee service, local chapter participation and volunteer outreach that can prime your CPA for leadership positions in your own organization. These opportunities are available throughout the year and are tailored to fit your CPA's schedule and interests.
- 3. Savings on Education and Training – Your CPA needs the proper education to retain their designation and the OSCPA's high quality CPE seminars, conferences and products offer this training and development at a members-only discounted rate. The savings from three of our eight-hour seminars will pay for his or her membership, and with special holiday promotions of up to an additional 20 percent off selected courses, your CPA's membership could save you big throughout the year.
